Over The Speaker

By J. S. COWPER

Monday's session of the special sitting of the legislature wasn't productive of much explicit information. There was a two-hour un-constituted speech on the Commission by Hon. Lucien Maynard, but even didn't disclose whether the government is to merely pass a resolution recommending the disallowance of bills of last session to be still valid, or whether three new bills will be enacted in their place.

Fascism Is On March In Dominion, Money Advised To Give In

Former Minister to U.S., Brother-in-Law of Mr. Bennett, Delivers One of Most Portentous Speeches Ever Given by Canadian Public Man

SYDNEY, N.S., Sept. 28.—Calling on capitalism to give in while there is yet time, and by reform and compromise to "save itself" and at the same time to "save the established order," by coming into line with its champions, who are the "people" and urging "big business to fearlessly design whatever constitutional amendments reforms require and put them through and see that they continue to retain the meaning we intended them to have," Hon. William D. Herridge, brother-in-law of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, C.P., former prime minister of Canada, and one time Canadian minister to Washington, electrified members of the Sydney Board of Trade on Monday evening when he delivered one of the most telling arguments of "big business" in Canada ever heard from the lips of a public man.

Fateful Time: Must Have Truth

Offering no apologies for speaking with a vehemence which he acknowledged he generally uses very sparingly, the former minister to the United States declared that "this is a fateful time and we must have the truth." Continuation of the present policies of "big business" and capitalism, he said, spell disaster not only for "big business" itself but for the unity of Canada.

Protest Is Made Against Injustice

"We have been patient," he said. "But the sternest kind of protest against injustice is bred by patience. Try in this case of abundance to break us on the wheel of scarcity, and out of the calm and self-restraint of many generations there will arise a storm which makes the fury of least strident people puny in comparison. If we did not have the means to property we would have to endure adversity. If there were not enough to go around we would have to struggle among ourselves for what there is. But there is no need to endure, and no need to struggle. And the strongest part of all this strange, strange situation is that, deep down in our hearts, we know that this is so."

By a vote of 45 to 11 the legislature on Monday sustained the ruling of Mr. Speaker Peter Dawson, declaring to be in order, the resolution moved by Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs, advocating that the house concur in the government viewpoint that the Dominion government no longer has the right to disallow legislation and that the three bills recently disallowed, be implemented.

Implementing of Disallowed Acts Voted By House

The division climaxed a stormy discussion, in which it was charged that the government had been in violation of the constitution, and D. M. Duggan, Alberta Conservative leader, that the resolution was defective.

"In this spirit Italy and Germany will examine and deal with their political tasks side by side, in order thus to counteract every possible attempt to divide the two nations or even to play one off against the other," he told the banquet guests.

The rehsfuehrer closed his remarks by proposing a toast to Italy's king and "emperor of Ethiopia" and to the welfare of Mussolini and Fascist Italy.

A brilliant company of more than 200 guests, including cabinet members of the two nations, as well as political and industrial leaders, heard the Fascist chiefs re-pledge Italian and German co-operation in the tangle of European affairs.

BEAR HAVES BY BEAR

FIERCE BEAST MADE CIRCLE FOR AMBUSH

Guide Saved When Hat Sticks in Wounded Bear's Teeth

JANPER, Sept. 28.—Harry Phillips, who was badly maimed in a hand-to-hand encounter with an enraged grizzly at the headwaters of the Bow river last Thursday, reached the Jasper hospital Monday night and his condition was reported as fair. He is in a weakened condition from his hard struggle with the bear and is suffering from loss of blood and multiple injuries.

Phillips, who was guiding Fred Robinson of St. Louis, sent him upon the grizzly's tracks in the forest. He was followed by the grizzly and took a shot at the bear but only succeeded in wounding him in one of his hind legs. The animal's tracks were followed for some hours and then they disappeared. The guide followed him and finally started to back-track them.

WITHOUT WARNING
As they made this discovery, all without warning he launched himself at the two men. The grizzly showed them, landing on the back of Robinson, tearing the front of the attack, with a finger torn off, scalp wounds and being clawed about the face.

Due to the fact that the animal was so close to the grizzly, Robinson was able to come to his rescue, for when he heard get some of the grizzly, he brim struck on his teeth. He was able to get the grizzly's head down in place his gun to the back of his neck and finish him with one shot.

The huge animal fell across the path of Robinson to lift it off, so he had to get away from the grizzly, the grizzly was by main force.

HELP SENT OUT
The first word of the accident reached Jasper at noon on Friday, and help was sent out immediately. It was on Friday that the Grizzly was shot by the party on the trail and the grizzly was shot.

making him as comfortable as possible. The grizzly was shot in the head, the man reached "Shake Back Cabin," where he rested that night. He was found by the grizzly.

From that point he was conveyed to a boat across the Athabasca river to the Edmonton hospital, where a waiting doctor and a car were waiting to take him to the hospital.

means to end the utterly preposterous Canadian paradox.

When we hear the economic facts, breaking from reaction's vicious denunciations of the policy, we hear that they will be facts compelling action. For reality makes reason quite intractable. Out of the void of the old political world we will come to take our stand upon this fundamental issue of security. The old political world is dead. The new world is being born. The old world is being born. The new world is being born.

FRUITS FROM B.C. WARMLY RECEIVED HERE
Expert Comes to Survey Prairie Field and Rejoice Suggestions

Following an investigation which has taken him all over the prairie provinces, and during which he conferred with wholesalers, dealers, retailers and consumers, Mr. J. E. Britton, of the British Columbia experimental station at Sumnerland, B.C., spent Monday in Edmonton, interviewing local wholesalers and dealers.

Mr. Britton, who is in the interests of the grower, we are also investigating the entire industry from the viewpoint of the consumer and everyone else interested."

"We realize that if the industry fails to meet the wishes of the consumer, the reason for the failure must be found in the industry itself."

"For that reason we are contacting the consumer so that we can advise the grower as to the wishes of the consumer."

"The fruit he must produce if he is to be successful in the market, he must pack it and otherwise take care of it so that it will be the wish of the ultimate consumer in the home."

SOME COMPLAINTS
Some complaints have been made to him on this tour and would be attended to, he said, but the majority of those he interviewed were favorable to British Columbia fruit.

"There is no doubt about it, the B.C. fruit pack has improved considerably in the past few years and is far better than it used to be," said Mr. Britton.

"This is due to the campaign of education we are carrying on through the growers and which this trip is a part of. After all, we must be prepared to be heard, and then the fruit must be properly packed, packed and stored for sale to the consumer. The things I have found out on this trip will be used to grow in educational literature this winter and recommendations made will undoubtedly result in improvements in the production of fruit grown in Canada, harvesting and packing."

Before leaving Sumnerland, Mr. Britton made arrangements for a shipment of fruit from the experimental station to be put in a special type package to see how they handled, and shipped to Edmonton.

IN GOOD SHAPE
"They arrived in Edmonton over the weekend and I am glad to be able to advise that they arrived in very good shape, they have been well received and the retailer handling them reports he was well pleased with the way they were picked up by his customers."

"This is very encouraging to the grower, and we will be able to do much for the British Columbia fruit industry on the part of the grower."

Mr. Britton left Sumnerland on Monday night.

CONSUMPTION INTO BALANCE WITH PRODUCTION

It will be a fine sight to see big business denouncing our present political fiddling with our agricultural problems and demanding a national policy which will save the wheat.

It will be an inspiration to see big business arguing the case for public ownership of public utilities and energy industries and insisting that private capital be permitted to withdraw its enterprises where it may enjoy the more adventurous activities of the pioneer.

It will be a lesson in statesmanship to watch big business while it fearlessly designs whatever reforms it deems necessary to retain the control of the country.

TREASURY MAY LOSE IF VOTE TAKES PLACE

Advances of $200 Made to Some Members of the Legislature

Should a provincial general election be called in Alberta before the end of the current year, the provincial treasury may stand to lose by reason of the advances made to members of the house on their most seasonal indemnity.

To date, some members of the house have received $200 as advances on their 1938 indemnities for their attendance at the special June session and some have taken advantage of a provision made by amendment to the Legislative Assembly Act, to permit them to "borrow" an additional $400 against their 1938 indemnity.

ANOTHER ADVANCE LIKELY
It is altogether likely that another advance on the next indemnity will be made for attendance at the current special session. Under provisions of the amendment to the Legislative Assembly Act, the treasury may stand to lose by reason of the advances made to members of the house on their most seasonal indemnity.

Act providing for the $450 borrow-

One member always has resigned from the house and if he drew any of the money permitted to be advanced, the government will not get any of it back.

Assuming that all members borrowed the total allowed by the two recent acts, $450 and $200 respectively, making a total of $650 then a total of $450 would have been advanced and some if a provincial general election was held.

Japan Disturbed By Bomb Protest:
May Talk Head

PEIPIING, Sept. 28.—Japanese military and naval authorities today evinced concern over foreign reactions to Japanese aerial bombardments of Chinese cities. Spokesmen for both service branches issued carefully prepared statements denying foreign correspondents "not to believe greatly exaggerated reports concerning Japanese bombing of Chinese cities."

Death Stalked Their Hunt for Untold Wealth!
Or will it be said of us that, when other countries paid tribute and rights-thinking upon the sacrificial fires of barbaric faith, this country, Canada, remembering nothing that was just or decent for the past, had to turn to the religious, believing still in God, did through a new quality of association, mount to a state of leadership among these peoples who came forward to defend their right?

That pace of leadership is open to us. It would seem that Providence intended we should carry it. All that could be done for us, for it has been wonderfully true that it is to give us the lead, is left for us to make. Make it. At the moment when we have been made greater and able, decision, decide that we will lead. Then the new Canadian Democracy will show this tortured world, the constant freedom from external slavery, the real way out.

Effective blocking is the foundation of any offence. Whether the stars be running backs, quarterbacks or wide receivers, they must be able to break through the defensive line.

THE SHOULDER BLOCK

In picture No. 1 observe the contact with the shoulder and side of the neck. The feet are spread so as to have balance and drive. The hips are low and the elbows are extended to give lift. The head and eyes must be up to keep the target in full view.

The shoulder block is used to open a hole in the defensive line for a platoon or tank. Usually you have two offensive men working

However, there are times when the blocker must work alone. He can charge most easily and effectively forward and then upward as he makes contact with the blocker and under the neck. The blocker must have the strength to keep his feet and otherwise, the strength of the contact will be broken. Don't linger at an opponent; take a short step forward before making contact and contact the blocker's chest.

Recognizing the urgent need of an authori-

THE PIVOT BLOCK—The book is aimed against a moving player to prevent him from taking a particular course, and is by no means a simple matter. In protecting the kicker and passer.

The physical contact is not what I missed, but instead of making the charge he deflected the blow, and the other player was given a pass. For example, where the blocker was supposed to be, he was not. The blocker must keep his hands on the ground and not touch the center, and stay between him and the center.

THE CROSS BODY BLOCK

In picture No. 2 the body is thrust forward, the thigh with the power originating from the Hayman's articles are so clear and explicit that even a school boy who never played the game could tell you that the foot is never to be put on the ground, and that the blocker could only be gotten from the better coaches. At the same time, the series is advanced enough to be of interest to the experienced player.

This article is illustrated with excellent photos, and makes a better big sport feature and an excellent reference for the club coach or for future reference.—EDITOR.

BY LAW HAYMAN

There is a right and a wrong way to do anything, and in the case of the cross body block, the body contact, it is absolutely essential to do it the right way. The wrong way is to get in with the lead leg and push the man back with the hands. This is the way the coaches that we are directing the boys to do it. Only "Pushing Fundamental" is the right way. The only "Pushing Fundamental" of the game and it flies in the face of our methods of teaching. The boys are not to be taught to push. They are to be taught to block. The coaches of the game should know that I think are the only way to teach the game.

I believe that football, played in the proper way under able guidance, is a benefitting influence to the
